DR. FRIEDMAN graduated from the University of Toronto's Faculty of Dentistry in 1988 and continued his education at the University of Florida and the renowned Pankey Institute for Advanced Dental Education. With a refined aesthetic sensibility and a passion for learning and innovation, Dr. Friedman is committed to helping patients achieve attractive, lasting cosmetic results that are built upon a solid foundation of dental health.

"I believe that even a small change in a person's smile can make a big difference in the way they look and feel," says Dr. Friedman. "There are so many more options today for correcting imperfections and, as in most areas of our lives, the technology is advancing all the time. If you're not happy with your smile, it's worth the time to investigate the options that are available to you."

At his Deer Park Office, located steps from St. Clair and Yonge, Dr. Friedman offers a complete range of options to restore and enhance your smile, including crowns, implants, bridges, bonding, veneers and whitening. He is also a qualified provider of Invisalign, a much less invasive orthodontic technology that uses clear, removable aligners and can eliminate the need for metal braces in many cases.

From designing his own spa-inspired office, which features state-of-the-art, environmentally friendly technologies and thoughtful amenities, to building a team that shares his vision of patient-focused health care, Dr. Friedman continually strives to provide an environment that supports health and wellness.

If you are considering enhancing your smile, you are invited to call Dr. Friedman's office to book a complimentary consultation.
